Assignment 2 Presentation Marking Rubric (5%)

Criteria	High Distinction (80–100%)	Distinction (70–79%)	Credit (60–69%)	Pass (50–59%)	Unsatisfactory (<50%)
Engagement & communication (2%)	Highly engaging and effective presentation. Speakers communicate confidently and clearly, maintain audience engagement and explain ideas in an accessible way. Presentation is well paced and appropriate for the audience.	Engaging and effective presentation. Speakers communicate clearly and confidently and maintain audience interest. Presentation is well paced and appropriate for the audience.	Generally engaging presentation. Speakers communicate clearly, although delivery or pacing may be inconsistent. Audience engagement is maintained for most of the presentation.	Adequate presentation and communication. Speakers are generally understandable, but delivery may be hesitant, difficult to follow or lack engagement. Pacing may be inconsistent.	Poor presentation and communication. Speakers are difficult to understand or follow, with little audience engagement. Poor pacing or delivery significantly affects the presentation.
Visual communication (2%)	Professional and well-designed presentation. Slides are clear, visually effective and support the spoken presentation without unnecessary text or clutter. Effective use of figures, images and other visual material.	Well-designed presentation. Slides are clear and visually effective, with appropriate use of figures, images and other visual material. Generally avoids unnecessary text or clutter.	Good presentation. Slides are generally clear and appropriate, although some may contain too much text or could make better use of visual material.	Basic presentation. Slides communicate the main information but may be text-heavy, inconsistent or visually difficult to follow in places.	Poor presentation. Slides are unclear, cluttered or poorly designed and do not effectively support the presentation.
Teamwork & response to questions (1%)	Presentation is well coordinated across team members, with smooth transitions and a consistent approach. All members contribute effectively and respond confidently and thoughtfully to questions.	Presentation is well coordinated, with effective contributions from team members. Responds well to questions and demonstrates good understanding of the presentation.	Team members generally work well together, although coordination or contributions may be uneven. Able to respond adequately to most questions.	Some evidence of teamwork, but contributions or coordination are uneven. Responses to questions are limited or rely heavily on prepared material.	Poorly coordinated presentation with limited evidence of effective teamwork. Unable to respond adequately to questions.